

The Sociology and Ideology - Contributions for history of Yugoslav sociology

Summary

The texts collected in this book were written over a period of three decades. Although thematically diverse, they are linked by the idea that domestic sociology—through socialism, the transition period, and beyond—has been under the dominant influence of ideology and ruling political ideas. This influence was reflected in the thematic and theoretical shifts that followed political changes. Socialist and liberal-democratic ideologies alike restricted the comprehensive development of sociology, as evidenced by the fact that the discipline was at its most vital and prolific during short periods of ideological interregnum.

Content

PREFACE

I Prologue for the first part

YUGOSLAV SOCIOLOGY AND SOCIALISM

Historical materialism

Djilas's New Class

Sociology broadens theoretical horizons

The structure of (Yugoslav) socialist society

Praxis - From the critique of bureaucratism to the critique of liberalism

Revolutionary sociology in the service of conservative politics

Empirical research into social structure

The reawakening of sociology in the eighties

Sociology as crisisology

On socialism again

Conclusion

Overview of the first part

II Prologue for the second part

SOCIOLOGY AND SOCIOLOGICAL SELF-UNDERSTANDING – THE CASE OF

YUGOSLAVIA 1945-1990.

Critique of historical materialism

Critique of functionalism

The seventies – years of sociology's decline

The eighties – years of sociology's reawakening

Conclusion

Overview of the second part

III Prologue for the third part

WHERE DID THE THIRD CLASSIC GO?

Analysis of citations of Marx's, Weber's and Durkheim's works in the journal

Sociology 1959-1996.

Overview of the third part

IV Prologue for the fourth part

SERBIAN TRANSITION IN THE SOCIOLOGICAL MIRROR

Introduction

Research results

I period between the fall of the Berlin Wall and the fall of Yugoslavia

II period: the reckoning with the socialist legacy

III period lost in transition

Conclusion

Overview of the fourth part

V Prologue for the fifth part

SOCIOLOGICAL TOPICS OF THE FIRST DECADE OF THE 21ST CENTURY - COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS OF SERBIA AND CROATIA

Comparison framework

Thematic scope

Areas of sociological interest

Themes

Transition, globalization and European integration

Theory and empirics

Conclusion

Tables

Review of Part Five

VI Prologue for the sixth part

THE RELATIONSHIP OF ACADEMIC SOCIOLOGY IN SERBIA TOWARDS CIVIL SOCIETY - Analysis of the use of the term civil society in three sociological journals in Serbia

Civil society in the context of crisis and (collapse) of socialism system (1980-2000)

Sociology and civil society after the year 2000

Discussion

Review of the sixth part

VII Prologue for the seventh part

IDEOLOGY AND SOCIAL INEQUALITIES

Science or ideology

Crisis and ideology

Ideology and relativism

Political sources of interest in inequalities

Conclusion

Review of the seventh part

VIII Prologue to Part Eight

TRANSNATIONAL CAPITALIST CLASS IN HANDBOOKS OF SOCIOLOGY

Leslie Sklair

William Robinson

TCC in handbooks of sociology

Discussion

Review of part eight

SOURCES

LITERATURE